West Bellevue, Bellevue, WA

Looking for a project house or new build opportunity in north west Bellevue, with loads of possibilities? This house has a large foot print on quiet cul de sac with day light basement for abundant square footage, as is. Main is 2,000 square feet & just begging to have its floor plan opened up to spill out onto the back deck. Currently there is a peak a boo water view from the front door and front bedroom window, even better if you go up with a second story. Loads of possibilities downstairs with a 2,000 square foot daylight basement with full bathroom and kitchenette. Multi generational living? Maybe move secondary bedrooms downstairs leaving a great primary suite on the main floor? Or start from scratch with custom build. Commuters dream!
